Tips:

- Even though he was in exile, the prophet Ezekiel was a happily married man with a home in Babylon. He faced more tragedy when his wife suddenly died [Eze 24:15-18].
- The book of Ephesians is Paul's letter to a church he planted (located in modern Turkey). Paul spent two years spreading the gospel [Acts 19:8-10]. Paul wrote to reveal the mystery of the church as Christ's body [Eph 3:2-6]. The book has two sections. Ephesians 1-3 reveals truths about our riches in Christ. Ephesians 4-6 contains practical applications for our daily walk in Christ.
- The book of Philippians is Paul's letter to a church (located in modern Macedonia, north of Greece). Originally, Paul led his missionary team there because of a vision [Acts 16:9-12]. Paul wrote to urge the church to maintain unity of mind, heart, and purpose [Php 1:27, 2:2, 3:16, 4:2]. Although Paul wrote from prison, this is the epistle of joy and rejoicing (mentioned 16 times).
